WEEKLY CRIME REPORT

MARCH 25TH - MARCH 31ST, 2024

ALPHA ZONE

LARCENY

Shasta Place, deputy responded to a larceny. The victim advised she saw her vehicle the day prior, but today it was gone. The vehicle was entered into a law enforcement database as stolen.

Walmart, deputies responded to an early Easter. Staff advised a female suspect was attempting to steal over $130 worth of Easter items before fleeing in a vehicle. The deputies located the vehicle and conducted a traffic stop on it. The suspect advised she “knows better” and was sorry. The deputy issued a summons for shoplifting.

ASSAULT

America’s Best Value, deputy responded to a disruptive deceiver. The caller advised there was a fight outside one of the motel rooms. After making contact with the female suspect and male victim, it was discovered an assault did occur. The suspect would be less than cooperative by refusing to identify herself and screaming so loudly it woke up other guests. Finally, the suspect would identify herself; however, that was discovered to be a deception. Deputies learned of her true identity after some investigation and discovered she was wanted out of Stafford County for a capias. She was charged with assault and battery, providing a false identification to law enforcement, identity theft, obstruction of justice, as well as, served on her outstanding warrant. She was held at Rappahannock Regional Jail without bond.

Balsam Lane, deputy responded to a “rude” ruffle. The victim advised he was confronted by a large group of adults over interactions between their respective children. During this loud confrontation, one of the females assaulted the victim. The suspect was identified and the deputy made contact with her. The suspect admitted to the assault due to finding the victim to be “rude.” The suspect received a summons for assault and battery.

DUI

Shasta Place, deputies responded to someone getting in triple-trouble. While on scene of a welfare check, it was discovered the male involved had consumed alcohol before driving away from the residence. Deputies didn’t have to look too far for the suspect considering he drove back to the residence. The driver had clear signs of intoxication and admitted to consuming “a few drinks”. Not only was a bottle of whiskey located in his pocket, but deputies discovered he had two prior DUI’s, making this his third. He was charged with driving under the influence third offense in ten years with a blood alcohol content between .15 and .2, as well as drinking and driving. He was held at Rappahannock Regional Jail without bond.

PUBLIC INTOXICATION

Holiday Inn, deputies responded to be “hotel helpers”. The caller wanted the welfare of a male suspect wearing a camouflage jacket checked on. Deputies located him in an intoxicated, but calm, state. They advised him to go to his room and sleep it off. Strangely enough, at 7:45 p.m. deputies would return for a disturbance call regarding a drunk male in a camouflage jacket. The camouflage could not hide him and he was arrested for public intoxication. He was held at Rappahannock Regional Jail until sober.

BRAVO ZONE

ASSAULT

Shaw Court, deputy responded to someone having a dog day. The victim advised he was confronted by the suspect over leash laws for a dog that wasn't even his. As the suspect continued to bark at the victim, he also assaulted him. The suspect received a summons for assault and battery.

DISTURBANCE

Overlook Court, deputies responded to an unknown unrest. The caller advised approximately 14 people were fighting outside. When deputies arrived, there was only one(1) intoxicated male. The male was charged with public intoxication and held until sober. Deputies received video of the incident and are investigating.

DUI

White Oak Road, deputy responded to a swerving speeder. While traveling on Butler Road, the deputy observed a vehicle failing to maintain the lane of travel while traveling at 50 MPH in a 35 MPH zone. The deputy conducted a traffic stop and made contact with the argumentative driver. Despite having several signs of intoxication, including the odor of an alcoholic beverage coming from her breath, the driver tried to fool deputies saying she did not have any alcohol. She was charged with driving under the influence, speeding, and failing to maintain the lane of travel.

CHARLIE ZONE

DUI

Valero, a deputy was traveling Southbound on Richmond Highway when he noticed a Volkswagen Jetta in front of him. This Jetta caught his eye due to it failing to maintain the lane of travel multiple times. The deputy conducted a traffic stop and an additional deputy responded to assist. The driver had clear signs of intoxication, admitted to consuming “three bottles” of beer before his trip, and was found in possession of suspected controlled substances. If that wasn’t bad enough, he had no driver’s license and was transporting a juvenile family member. The driver was charged with driving under the influence with a juvenile, no driver’s license, possession of controlled substances, and failure to maintain the lane of travel.

The intersection of Mine Road and Sunflower Drive, the deputy responded to a hammer hindrance. The victim advised an angry driver was following and cursing at him as he drove. The suspect would then get out of his vehicle and struck the victim’s passenger side mirror with a hammer. The deputy was able to identify the “hammer-time” fan and discovered he had no driver’s license. Warrants for vandalism and driving without a license were obtained.

LARCENY

Red Roof Inn, deputy responded to a taxi transgression. The caller, a taxi driver, advised she dropped off a male suspect at this location who went by “TK.” This “TK” individual advised he would go inside the business, get money, and return to pay the driver for her services. Instead, the suspect fled out the back door of the business.

CVS, deputies responded to a thwarted theft. Staff advised a male suspect was concealing items in his backpack and walked out without paying for them. Deputies stopped the suspect who immediately confessed to his crimes. Nearly $140 worth of items were recovered and the suspect was released on a summons for shoplifting.

Stafford County Courthouse, deputy was conducting her Court Services duties when she was informed of “loot” looted. The victim advised while he processed through security, he emptied his pockets and forgot to retrieve his cash from the basket. Instead, the person next in line would take the cash. Considering the incident was caught on camera and the suspect was there for another court matter, it was easy to identify him. A warrant for larceny was obtained.

DUI

At the intersection of Richmond Highway and Corporate Drive, deputies met a “whiskey warlock”. A caller advised a vehicle had driven out of Aquia Harbor using the wrong side of the gate. The deputy located the vehicle and conducted a traffic stop as an additional deputy responded to assist. Despite heading North, the driver advised he was coming home from Woodbridge. He had no driver’s license, had signs of intoxication, and advised he had made four (4) whiskey drinks magically disappear by consuming them. He also advised he knew everything there was to know about field sobriety tests because he watched them on YouTube. Shortly after the tests, the YouTube expert was charged with driving under the influence, driving without a license, and speeding.

DELTA ZONE

BURGLARY

Harvest Green Court, a deputy responded to a burglary. The victim advised she returned home to discover her home broken into. Multiple items were taken, including a PS5 and shoes.

ASSAULT

Colonial Forge High School, deputy responded to an early morning assault. While monitoring morning arrival as an SRO, the deputy observed two (2) female students fighting. With the help of staff, all parties were separated while the predominant aggressor made threats towards the victim. It was discovered that the assault occurred due to the predominant aggressor attempting to fight the victim despite the victim not wanting to partake. A criminal complaint for assault and battery was filed for the predominant aggressor.

VANDALISM

Knollwood Court, deputy responded to a "wounded" window. The victim advised that she had discovered the window of her vehicle destroyed. Meanwhile, the deputy, conducting his SRO duties at Kate Waller Barrett Elementary School, was notified by a bus driver that they observed a student throw a rock and destroy the window. The student admitted to the incident and their parent was willing to pay for the damages.

PUBLIC INTOXICATION

Verizon, a deputy responded to a "strange" suspect. The caller advised there was a male who was acting strangely at this location. The deputy made contact with the suspect, whom he knew from multiple previous drug-related calls. The suspect had clear signs of intoxication and was charged with public intoxication.

SCAM-AWARE

Victim advised that they had received an email from someone posing as a subcontractor which they frequently conduct business with regularly. The email came with an invoice and new banking information to make payment. Luckily, the victim's bank found this to be fishy and alerted the victim, and flagged the payment.
